

Google Scholar and Pfau Library

Do you like to use Google Scholar for your research? Ever wish it was easier to find out if Pfau Library has access to a book or journal article you found there?

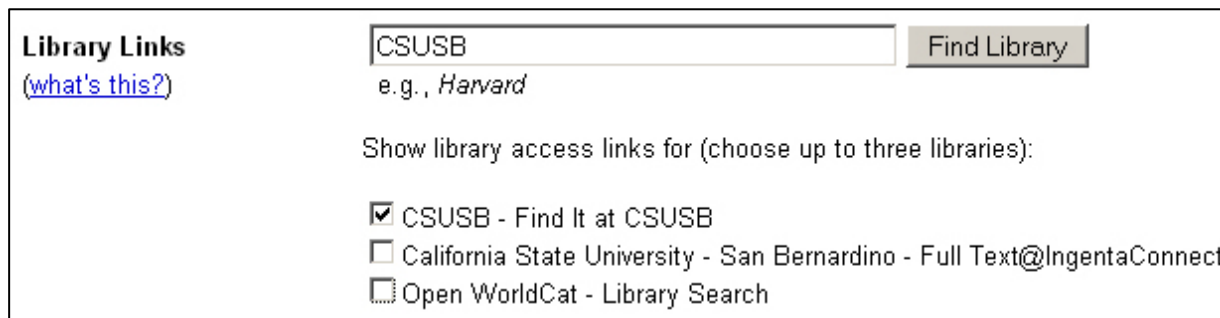

Now it is! Here's how to use Google Scholar with Pfau Library:

You may want to begin with the link to Google Scholar provided on the library's A-Z List of Databases, but it's also ok to go straight to Google Scholar out on the web at scholar.google.com

1. Once at Google Scholar, click the Scholar Preferences link (at right of the search button).

2. Scroll down to the Library Links section. Do a search for: CSUSB
3. Several options may appear. Mark the one that says "Find It at CSUSB."

4. Scroll back up, and click the Save Preferences button.

Now, when you do a Google Scholar search on that terminal, you'll see a link next to each result that says "Find it at CSUSB." This is the same as the "Search for Full Text" function you see in many of the library's databases, which will link you to the article if we have it available online, or offer a Library Catalog search and Interlibrary Loan options if we don't.
