

Local Acting Students Strut Their Stuff on Stage at the Indian Wells Theater

Contact: Mike Singer, Public Affairs

Phone: (760) 341-2883, ext. 78107

PALM DESERT, Calif. (October 6, 2008) - The Neil Simon musical, "Come Blow Your Horn", is now playing at the Indian Wells Theater at the Palm Desert Campus of Cal State San Bernardino.

The show kicked off Friday, October 3rd, and will run through Sunday, October 26th.

Tickets are $25 and available online at www.studiowinther.com or by calling (760) 567-5622. Discounted tickets at $20 are available to seniors, students, and members of Palm Springs Women in Film & Television and Desert Actors Network.

The play's cast consists of acting students from director Jorn Winther's acting classes. The play was performed earlier this year at the same venue and is filled with lots of laughs for the entire family.

Winther's goal is to showcase local talent and build a foundation, performing great plays all year round for the enjoyment of the community at a reasonable price.

He also tries to bring industry professionals to his plays to enjoy his creative casts, which may lead to possible employment.

The campus is located at 37-500 Cook Street in Palm Desert, between Gerald Ford and Frank Sinatra Drives.