CAL STATE SAN BERNARDINO'S COLLEGE OF EXTENDED LEARNING OFFERS NEW ONLINE GREEN CERTIFICATE PROGRAMS

PALM DESERT, Calif. (August 13, 2009) – Cal State San Bernardino's College of Extended Learning announces the addition of three new green certificate programs to their fall 2009 course offerings. The certificate programs include Green Building Construction, Green Energy Management and Sustainable Practices. Each program consists of five courses that can either be taken individually, or combined to earn a certificate in a specific area of emerging green industries.

“The timing for these types of courses makes them a great option for folks who are looking for new career pathways, either because of job layoffs, or due to slow downs in their current industry” explains Steve McAdams, Program Administrator at Cal State San Bernardino's Palm Desert Campus. “These courses will have a very broad appeal to people who want to increase marketability in their current careers, or those who want to be at the forefront of the growing trend toward green-related businesses”, says McAdams.

More information and course catalogs are available by calling the College of Extended Learning at (760) 341-2883, ext. 14428, emailing mcadamss@csusb.edu or visiting <http://cel.csusb.edu>. Fall registrations are currently being accepted.
